Dietary information collected using self-administered diaries is used for advocacy and citizen agency in Indonesia and Uganda

Anne-Marie Berenice Mayer, International Institute for Environment and Development anne-marie.mayer@iied.org
Alejandro Guarin, International Institute for Environment and Development Alejandro.guarin@iied.org
Shariff Muhamed, Kabarole Research and Resource Centre (KRC), Fort Portal, Uganda
Ninna Rohmawati,. Jember University, Indonesia

#ANH2020

http://www.anh-academy/ANH2020
Within Food Group Diversity in Jember, Indonesia

Average daily species diversity was 13 and weekly 32
Sustainable Diets for All Reframing the Food System Debate https://sustainablediets4all.org/publications/

Indonesia’s triple burden of malnutrition
A call for urgent policy change https://sustainablediets4all.org/document /indonesias-triple-burden-of-malnutrition/

https://www.iied.org/dietary-indicators-need-overhauling-food-diary-study-finds