Are you looking to collaborate and learn from like-minded peers around the world?

The ANH Academy is proud to announce the launch of Research Communities, a space created just for you to connect with other researchers in your field.

WHAT ARE RESEARCH COMMUNITIES?

They’re vibrant hubs where researchers converge to supercharge policy-relevant research around a specific topic at the intersection of agriculture, nutrition, and health. By joining, you become part of a powerful global community, fueled by shared knowledge and collaboration, where members help each other succeed.

HERE’S WHAT YOU CAN EXPECT:

- Monthly online events: Dive into specialized research strategies, topics, and processes during our Research Roundtable events. Interact with leading researchers and fellow community members eager to share their insights and work.

- Office hours: Discuss your research, troubleshoot, seek out resources, and receive guidance from both peers and ANH Academy experts during informal, drop-in sessions.

- Blogs and discussions: Shine a spotlight on your work and gain valuable feedback from your community in blog posts. Discuss with your peers in the comments and keep conversation flowing.

- Resource repositories: Access curated online resources to further your research and policy uptake.

OUR FIRST RESEARCH COMMUNITY IS ON FOOD ACCESS

The first Research Community will bring together ANH Academy members focusing accelerating actionable policy analysis to improve access to adequate, nutritious, and affordable food in diverse localities. Become a member here. Future Research Communities may focus on food loss and waste; demand creation; or climate resilience.
