

Preliminary Programme #ANH2019

Learning Labs 24-25 June

Interactive learning sessions offered by experts from around the world

Plenary Masterclasses & Workshops

- Conducting policy research
- Translating research

Parallel learning Sessions

- Behaviour change and drivers of food choice
- Tools for measuring women's empowerment
- Water Insecurity Scale
- Affordability of nutritious diets
- System dynamics
- Sustainable diets
- Interrogating linear growth
- Implementation science
- Qualitative and participatory research methods
- Innovative tools for food systems research
- Economic evaluations
- Interactive food and diet data platforms
- ICTs and wearable devices for data collection
- Doing aquaculture research
- Developing apps for nutrition sensitive agriculture
- Systematic reviews
- Open data and research ethics
- Proposal writing and scientific communication

Research Conference 26-28 June

A three day abstract-driven scientific conference with keynotes, panel discussions and more

Abstract-driven Oral and Poster Sessions

- Food environments and drivers of food choice
- Empowerment, equity and gender
- Climate, environment and resilience
- Results from nutrition-sensitive agriculture programmes
- Environmental shocks, resource management and agricultural adaptations in South Asia
- Economics of food systems and diets
- Policy analysis
- Financial incentives and preference analyses for improved Nutrition and Health
- Human Health and food safety
- Tools, methods and metrics

Panel discussions

- Lessons learnt in food systems impact evaluation and implementation research
- Engaging with the private sector: A dialogue among multidisciplinary researchers to navigate the contested space

Keynote speeches & ANH Dialogues

- Announced soon! Follow our website for more info

Facilitating collaboration

Social events and opportunities to network and strengthen interdisciplinary and cross-sectoral collaboration

#ANH2019

Join the conversation online

 @immana_res

 ANH-Academy@lshtm.ac.uk

 www.ANH-Academy.org

Organised in partnership with